Wishing Rock Press, United States, 2013. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 203 x 133 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . In 2005, Pam Stucky toured the Republic of Ireland by bus for seventeen days, logging dozens of hours on public transportation as she traveled to Galway, Inishmore, Doolin, Dingle, Kinsale, Cashel, Kilkenny, Glendalough, and Dublin. In this short travelogue, Pam shares the tales of her adventures, from nearly losing her wallet in Galway, to being mistaken for a local on Inishmore, to swaying home from a pub late at night, supporting three drunkenly singing senior citizens in Doolin. In Inishmore, she conspired with a local to rent a bike for free; in Cashel, she managed to get herself locked inside her BB room; at Newgrange, she peered back through the veil of time. She chatted with locals, braved a haunted fort, and bore witness to some of the country's most important history. Through it all, she was always on the hunt for internet cafes from which to send home her stories. Filled with wit and wanderlust, Pam on the Map: Ireland offers one woman's perspective on her first solo foray into the world of travel. Pam on the Map: Ireland is one of the retrospective books in the Pam on the Map series. About the Pam on the Map series: In the Pam on the Map series, author and traveler Pam Stucky offers her own engaging twist on the modern travelogue genre. Pam is curious. She's curious about the world, and curious about people. In her Pam on the Map series, Pam sets out to discover and connect with people and places, and to take readers along on her adventures through her almost real-time reports. Raw and real, Pam's tales are...
